

Access to Housing Policy

Lead Director: Executive Director of Communities and Regeneration

Reference: POL 73

SMT Approval: 11th April 2024

Version date: April 2024

Review Date: April 2027

1 Introduction & Aim

The Access to Housing Policy reflects the approach taken in the allocation of Cobalt's vacant homes. It is separate to, but shares several principles based on housing need with the Merseyside Sub-Regional Allocations Policy 2023 (the 'Allocations Scheme'). It sets out Cobalt Housing's responsibilities and approach to the allocations of vacant homes, defining exceptions to the Sub Regional Policy and providing a set of principles and a framework to ensure tenancy and neighbourhood sustainability in the areas where we own and manage properties. This policy also reflects the importance of making best use of our housing stock and promoting and facilitating movement within our stock to meet housing need.

2 Policy Statement

This policy, including any associated Local Lettings Policies, have been developed to supplement the Sub Regional Allocations Policy (SRCBL). It enables Cobalt to ensure we provide consistent allocations but also provides flexibility to enable Officers to manage any risks identified in the allocation of properties and make best use of our housing stock.

The SRCBL policy does not always address the local issues within the communities we serve and support Cobalt's view on tackling ASB, gun and gang crime. The Access to Housing Policy supports Cobalt's objective to create sustainable communities where families want to live.

The policy supports the use of Oaktree Gardens, Invergarry Road and Gable View as accommodation for over 55's.

Cobalt neighbourhoods have had significant issues relating to gun and gang crime and more recently issues with County Lines organised crime. This policy allows the organisation to create new tenancies which do not adversely affect the sustainability of its communities.

The policy applies to all allocations made through the organisation regardless of the point of allocation, whether it be through Property Pool Plus (PPP) or a direct let to an existing customer. This provides a consistent and transparent approach to allocations.

Cobalt will adopt the PPP priority system as our internal method in establishing housing need, rather than creating a separate system. We will consider internal transfers for urgent management lets, medical requests where the current property is not suitable and also through our Rightsizing scheme (detailed in Appendix A) to alleviate under occupation and over crowding. We will continue to signpost applicants to PPP and provide support and assistance with their applications.

Cobalt will have the opportunity to create Local Lettings Policies within identified areas, where we may need to allocate differently to create more sustainable communities and achieve community cohesion. These policies will be developed in consultation with our customers and the local authority and will be approved by our Executive Team.

The policy applies to all allocations made within our stock and the officers who manage those processes.

3 Policy Principles

3.1 Best use of housing

Cobalt will always seek to make 'best use' of its available housing stock and aims to create sustainable tenancies and balanced communities. We aim to match an applicant to a home that best meets their needs in size and levels of occupation.

We recognise that our existing stock is predominantly larger family homes with an older customer profile. We have developed our 'Rightsizing' approach to try to offer more suitable accommodation to our customers who are under-occupying our homes and freeing up larger family homes to applicants on the housing waiting list.

Our Development Strategy also aims to deliver new homes including some properties specifically for older customers that better meet their needs.

3.2 Pre Tenancy

Our pre tenancy work aims to identify any early tenancy failure risks and supports applicants to successfully access and sustain a tenancy by gathering information on the following areas:

- Right to Rent (immigration status and recourse to public funds for non-UK citizens)
- Income and affordability details
- Information on any vulnerabilities or customer needs
- ASB / criminal history (unspent convictions)
- Skills or access to support to successfully managing a tenancy
- Other practical support required (carpets, decoration, furniture, floating support)

We will ensure that new customers are supported during their tenancy by their Neighbourhood Housing Officer or for customers that require more intensive support, through our Tenancy Wellbeing Officers.

We will aim to utilise the information gathered to ensure we can offer adequate support and sustain the tenancy.

If there is an occasion where we feel that information gathered as part of the pre tenancy process impacts on an offer of accommodation, we will discuss this with the applicant and aim to support them to overcoming the issue. If we feel that the information gathered impacts their application to the PPP scheme we will update the scheme accordingly.

3.3 Tenancy Fraud

Cobalt will ensure that any applicant who applies for a home provides verified photographic identification. To support this process we ensure the applicant is met in person during the sign up process.

Through our Starter Tenancy Policy we carry out two starter tenancy visits with the customer at their home.

3.3 Nominations Arrangements

Through our Nominations Agreement with Liverpool City Council, Cobalt will participate in Property Pool Plus (PPP) as the means to assist the local authority in its statutory duty to meet housing need across the City. Our agreement covers the following allocations:

- A minimum of 50% of all available re-let properties
- 100% of all new build properties where a form of housing subsidy or grant is provided for development and no other arrangement (Local Lettings Policy) with Liverpool city Council is in place
- An agreed proportion of available new build properties on schemes with no housing subsidy or grant, to be agreed on a scheme by scheme basis

3.4 Assessing Housing Need

We will replicate the guidelines detailed within the Sub Regional Allocation Policy to provide a consistent approach to bedroom standards and identifying housing need. Only permanent household members will be included to assess housing need, but consideration will be given to applicants where access to children is prohibited due to lack of sleeping facilities in their current accommodation. Affordability assessments will take place to prevent future hardship for these families.

Where an overnight carer is required and an extra bedroom need identified, supporting evidence will be required to support the move and again affordability assessments conducted.

3.5 Local Lettings Policies

Cobalt may take the decision to implement a Local Lettings Policy in a particular area or scheme. This could be for a number of reasons but would usually include, first lets as part of a new build scheme, to address a particular issue impacting a neighbourhood and/or to ensure neighbourhood sustainability through a balanced approach to allocations.

If the need for a Local Lettings Policy is identified, Cobalt will ensure there is consultation with our customers and the local community, consultation with our Neighbourhoods Teams and with the local authority. Local Lettings Policies will be approved by Cobalt's Executive Management Team and reviewed annually in conjunction with stakeholders.

3.6 Adapted / purpose-built specialist properties

Cobalt will aim to ensure that our adapted or purpose-built specialist properties are allocated to applicants requiring those adaptations or property type.

Adapted properties will be advertised through the Sub Regional Allocations Scheme or let to an existing Cobalt customer through our internal transfer list.

3.7 Over 55's accommodation

Cobalt has a number of schemes where the existing customer base is over 55 years due to former Local Lettings Policies. In order to ensure that the sustainability of the scheme is maintained and future allocations do not create an imbalance of lifestyle, we reserve the right to advertise vacant homes in these scheme as accommodation suitable for over 55 years. The schemes included are the following:

- Oaktree Gardens
- Invergarry Road
- Gable View

3.8 Housing of Young People (16 & 17 Year Olds)

In line with the Sub Regional Allocations Scheme, Cobalt will agree to accept 16 and 17 year olds and will offer a tenancy if an urgent housing need has been established. Any offers of Cobalt accommodation to 16 and 17 years olds will be made via a targeted offer / management allocation. In these circumstances any applicant must agree to:

- An equitable tenancy agreement
- Provision of a suitable rent guarantor
- Completion of our Pre-Tenancy process (see 3.2)
- Abide by any agreed external 'care' / support package

Cobalt reserve the right to withhold rehousing to any 16 or 17 year applicant if the individual concerned does not have the appropriate support in place or the capacity to maintain a tenancy in a satisfactory manner including a full financial assessment.

3.9 Offenders, Ex-Offenders and Anti-Social Behaviour (ASB)

Cobalt will not operate a 'blanket' policy regarding offenders seeking to be resettled or ex-offenders who are seeking access to suitable accommodation. The organisation will not prevent an applicant from being included unless this conviction is unspent or was due to unacceptable behaviour serious enough to make them non-qualifying to be a customer.

Some Cobalt neighbourhoods have suffered disproportionately in terms of levels of serious Anti-Social Behaviour criminality. Cobalt is committed to tackling these issues and achieving stable, balanced, and sustainable neighbourhoods. To achieve this, it adopts an approach to allocations that is locally sensitive given the inherent and underlying problems that have and continue to threaten its neighbourhoods and residents.

We will therefore reserve the right to withhold any offer of accommodation if the qualifying applicant/household seeking rehousing has an offending history associated with any of the following activities:

- Gang related activities
- Gun related activities
- Illicit drug related activities
- Serious Anti-Social Behaviour
- Any other offence deemed serious enough to pose a high-risk to neighbourhood stability

It must be noted that an offending history does not automatically make an applicant non-qualifying, each application will be reviewed on a case by case basis individual housing need. Any refusal will be reviewed by the Neighbourhood Manager to ensure that all aspects of housing need have been considered before the applicant is notified. This decision will then be confirmed in writing to the applicant and a right to a further review by the Head of Housing. The review will take place within 10 working days and the applicant will be informed in writing. Applicants can also request a review by the local authority.

In relation to Anti-Social Behaviour, Cobalt will look to the guidance covered in the Sub Regional Allocations Policy, but will in addition will consider not making or adjusting an offer of accommodation to any applicant/household in an estate or neighbourhood if any of the following apply:

- A proved association to individuals or households in that area who have a history of involvement in serious Anti-Social Behaviour or criminal activities; or where there are significant concerns about direct or indirect links to others who may be involved. Any applicant deemed to fall within this criteria will not be considered for any further offers of accommodation by Cobalt for a period no less than 12 months from when the decision was taken, unless there is a demonstrable improvement in the behaviour deemed to make them unsuitable originally.

- An applicant who is deemed vulnerable and there are concerns that they would be targeted by existing individuals in the area and either become a victim of negative Anti-Social Behaviour or coerced into such behaviour, to the extent that this then would place their tenancy at risk. In these circumstances, Cobalt will assess the support available and other methods to protect the applicant. Should the decision be made that this is not a sustainable tenancy Cobalt will actively look for alternative accommodation for the applicant directly or through partner landlords, to support them in accessing suitable rehousing.
- Where an applicant has previous convictions, enforcement action, sanctions & formal complaints for domestic abuse, hate crime or harassment to ensure that they are rehoused at a safe distance from the victim/complainant. This will include children & witnesses and household members.

In reaching such decisions, Cobalt will ensure compliance with the Equality Act 2010 in order to avoid any discrimination.

Cobalt will review any application where a sanction has been applied upon request from the applicant after the 12 month period has lapsed. If there have been no further incidents of Anti-Social Behaviour or criminality, then consideration will be made to instating their application. If there is a shown likelihood or probability that there has been involvement in further incidents after their application being instated, then the application can again be made non-qualifying or receive a reduced preference band for a period of 12 months and can request further reviews.

The sanctions applied to any application which is deemed to fit this criteria will be determined by the criteria set out in the Sub Regional Allocations Scheme. Any applicant who has been deemed to satisfy this criteria and has subsequently been withheld an offer of accommodation does have the right to appeal this decision. Any refusal will be reviewed by the Neighbourhood Manager to ensure that all aspects of housing need have been considered before the applicant is notified. This decision will then be confirmed in writing to the applicant and a right to a further review by the Head of Service will be offered. Applicants can also request a review by the local authority.

3.10 Affordability

Our pre tenancy process considers the affordability of the property for the applicant. People can struggle to afford their rent for a range of reasons and it would be unfair to offer a property knowing this will create financial hardship and /or fail to sustain the tenancy.

As part of this approach, we will look to support applicants to understand their circumstances and through our Welfare Benefits Team aim to maximise the applicants income. The aim is to progress as many applicants as possible sustainably into tenancies.

3.10.1 Working applicants facing hardship through housing costs

We are aware that there are applicants who are not deemed in housing need as their current home is suitable and they are not currently under threat of homelessness, however we recognise that there are some applicants who are in financial difficulty and have increasing housing debts and this may impact their future tenancy sustainability. This is particularly prevalent for applicants living in private sector accommodation. Cobalt is committed to supporting the local authority to prevent homelessness therefore we will offer up to 5% of properties to applicants who are occupying a market rented property and are on a low income.

Applicants will be required to demonstrate both the rent charge and their income. Applicants will need to demonstrate that the rent charged on their current home is 40% of their household income. This excludes applicants who receive full Housing Benefit or the housing element of Universal credit which covers the full rent charged.

3.10.2 Under-Occupation & Allocations

Cobalt currently has a significant number of family homes that are under-occupied and customers, if in receipt of housing related benefits are adversely financially impacted to meet under occupation charges. We also recognise the need to use our stock effectively to meet housing need and facilitate mobility across our stock.

Conversely, there are significant numbers of applicants / households seeking larger and/or 'move-on' accommodation. Cobalt will aim to ensure through the allocation of properties that we can effectively manage applicant's expectations whilst meeting housing need and providing choice. To achieve this Cobalt will:

- Prioritise allocations to maximise occupancy in line the Sub Regional Allocations Scheme
- Promote and support existing customers to participate in recognised mutual exchange schemes
- Actively participate in and promote initiatives aimed at reducing under-occupation and overcrowding
- Encourage social mobility in our older customer base by developing suitable stock types and prioritising these customers for allocations where this will free up family accommodation

Cobalt will in some circumstances permit a level of under occupation through the allocations process where it can be clearly exhibited that there are no issues surrounding affordability, centred around an assessment of income and outgoings.

Cobalt will only seek to award under occupation status as outlined in the Sub Regional Allocations Scheme, to those applicants who would fully occupy the property they are seeking rehousing to, further under occupation will not be permitted.

3.11 Adaptations

Cobalt will follow the principles set out in our Adaptations Policy when considering allocation to applicants requiring an adapted property. Cobalt will seek to make best use of its housing stock and match accommodation to suitable applicants. In cases where customers require adaptations at the point of sign up we will consider each request and aim to provide suitable adaptations that the customer needs. In cases where we are not able to complete the adaptations we will discuss the options available with the applicant, primarily other existing property types that may be available.

Where void properties already contain adaptations, we will allocate in line with section 3.6 above.

3.12 Management Allocations

As part of our commitment to reduce or prevent homelessness, Cobalt will take practical steps to address urgent housing need impacting our own customers where possible.

In some circumstances it is appropriate to consider whether rehousing of an existing customer should be accelerated for their safety or wellbeing. To ensure that those in the greatest need are assessed and accommodated in line with the appropriate priority, Cobalt reserves the right to award a management transfer and facilitate rehousing to suitable accommodation outside of normal allocating processes, as a direct let/targeted offer, as necessary.

Reasons why we may offer a management transfer include:

- Victims of serious Anti-Social Behaviour or criminality whose life may be at risk, or they are in substantial risk of immediate, serious harm
- High level dependency health and welfare cases who may have complex housing needs with specific rehousing requirements
- Significant damage to their existing home (i.e. fire or flood) making the home uninhabitable and requiring major repair

Management transfers may also be considered in any of the following circumstances:

- Failed successions, left in occupation cases, and succession cases where the property is deemed unsuitable for the assignees needs
- Any other circumstances where the living circumstances of the applicant/household are significantly detrimental to their health & welfare, and where there are inadequate provisions within the Sub Regional Allocations Scheme to facilitate a move to settled accommodation

- Customers living in a Cobalt market rented property where their income can no longer meet the rent charged and the rent is more than 50% of the household income

The decision to award a management transfer will be made and documented by the relevant Neighbourhood Manager and reviewed if necessary or in complex cases by the Head of Housing.

3.13 Administrative & Housing Management Issues

The following general issues will also apply:

- Offer Refusals – where any Cobalt property has been advertised through the Sub Regional Allocations Scheme and no suitable applicant can be found through the shortlisting process, Cobalt will advertise the property on ‘Available Now’ on Property Pool Plus. If there are no applicants that bid, Cobalt will then advertise the property on other external platforms, which can include internet marketing sites and/or our website and social media channels. In these circumstances we acknowledge that this does not become a council nomination. Any person(s) expressing an interest will be subject to the same checks as our standard application process.

Cobalt recognise that a more flexible approach is required in areas of low demand, limited interest in a particular property type and where there has been a reduction in the number of customers available for the properties becoming available. Where a property is considered hard to let it may be offered directly to any applicant who we assess as suitable and likely to accept the property. Properties may only be considered hard to let if either:

- No initial interest has been expressed in a least one bidding round of choice-based lettings or there have been up to three rejections by applicants on the housing waiting list
- We are aware from other previous lettings in that area that a property is unlikely to receive any bids if placed on choice based lettings or is likely to be rejected by applicants on the housing register
- Cobalt will always aim to seek one viable reference to support any application for rehousing. Where a landlord or lender reference is unable to be obtained, Cobalt may insist on other reasonable measures such as for example, the production of periodic bank statements to show rent or mortgage payments. Cobalt will reserve the right to reject any reference it deems as unsuitable. We also exercise our discretion to allocate without reference but subject to reasonable investigation/ checks on an applicant's housing history.

- Three Reasonable Offers Rule - Cobalt will adopt the following for direct match cases:
 - Band A – remains unchanged and in line within the Sub Regional Allocations Scheme
 - Other Bands – 3 reasonable offers will be applied to all other bands

3.14 Homeowners

In order to ensure social housing is available to those who are in housing need we will not allocate a property to people who already own a home unless there are extenuating circumstances.

Applicants who have savings in excess of £16,000 would not normally be accepted.

We will review applications on a case by case basis and will consider any individual circumstances including the suitability of their existing property and their ability to secure private accommodation.

Examples of this could include adapted or purpose built accommodation such as Extra care

5 Regulatory & Legislative Compliance

In accordance with the Regulator of Social Housing (RSH)'s Consumer Standards - Tenancy Standard, Cobalt is committed to allocating our homes in a fair and transparent way and co-operating with the local authority in meeting its strategic housing functions.

Cobalt is committed to work in partnership with Liverpool City Council (LCC) to assist the local authority in its statutory duty to meet housing need. Cobalt participates in the local authority's Sub Regional Allocations Scheme choice based lettings system, Property Pool Plus, and nominates to the local authority no less than 50% of all available empty properties for allocation through this scheme.

The law requires that local authority allocation schemes must afford reasonable preference to certain categories of person over those with no reasonable preference. These reasonable preference categories include:

These sections relate to people who are homeless or threatened with homelessness.

Appendix A – Rightsizing

Policy statement

This policy sets out how Cobalt’s Neighbourhoods Team will assist our current customers transfer into a suitable Cobalt property through registration onto an internal register which includes mutual exchanges.

Rightsizing will be made accessible to offer suitable accommodation to those customers who meet the following criteria:

- Cobalt customers where their current home is too big or too small for their needs following a change in household composition
- Customers living in an adapted Cobalt property with adaptations are no longer required by household members
- Cobalt customers who are adversely impacted due to affordability because of the size of their existing home

Rightsizing supports Cobalt to deliver best use of its stock and supporting our customers sustaining their tenancy.

Cobalt will achieve this through:

- Maximising the efficient and effective use of Cobalt’s housing resources to meet the needs of its customers
- Assists those customers impacted by the bedroom tax
- Supporting those customers facing financial hardship by a potential move with financial support to moving home
- Ensuring that the rightsizing register is managed effectively and is transparent
- Giving priority to those customers who seek rehousing into a suitable property
- Providing customers with a home that meets their housing needs
- Excludes those tenants with a proven historical record of Anti-Social Behaviour, significant tenancy breaches including non-payment of rent, excluding bedroom tax arrears

- The tenancy is impacted by the bedroom tax

Cobalt will consider the following factors in assessing a customer's request for rightsizing:

- Where the payment of financial incentives can be offset against debt to assist with moving where the benefit to the organisation is greater, such as four or five bedroom houses
